The aim of the workgroup

The workgroup wants to address the high prevalence of poor inhaler technique in patients. Therefore we combine the knowledge from behavioral scientists, medical scientists, patients and clinicians. Different studies have been performed by the workgroup in the past years to discover current barriers and facilitators of inhaler technique. Based on the results of these studies the workgroup will propose a new and more effective inhaler training method.

Aim of the conference

This new method will be presented and discussed at the coming IRW conference. Above that many interesting presentations and workgroups will be organized related to inhaler technique. The conference is relevant for all healthcare professionals and scientists who are involved in respiratory medicine.
